Eurotunnel is an exceptional company which, having undergone considerable change, is now in an excellent position. Market leader for cross-Channel travel, in 2007 Eurotunnel transported 2.1m cars, 65,000 coaches and 1.4m trucks between the UK and France on board its fleet of 25 Shuttles. As owner of the concession to operate the Channel Tunnel until 2086, Eurotunnel also receives revenue from allowing the transit of Eurostar and rail freight trains through its infrastructure.

The service provided by Eurotunnel is unrivalled in terms of speed, ease, and reliability, and it is the most environmentally friendly way to cross the Channel. 2007 was an outstanding year for the company and marked the start of a new era: Eurotunnel achieved excellent revenue and traffic results, and was officially recognised for its quality of service.

Reporting to the Legal Director, you will be well versed in general commercial law, confident in litigation and have the intellectual flexibility to enjoy a broad spectrum of matters that range from data protection and advertising law along with e-commerce to major contract negotiation and public procurement work. Ideally you will have 3-4 years PQE and now be looking for a role where you can utilise both your legal knowledge and commercial aptitude to the full.

In addition to your legal expertise and commercial background, a high level of spoken and written French is essential as it will allow you to make the most of your experience in a truly bi-national company whose legal team is based in both Folkestone, UK and Coquelles France. The thought of working on both sides of the channel will excite you as you will often play a key role in advising on English law issues in France.

As a natural communicator you will be able to deliver your advice with integrity and will always be sensitive to the broad ranging commercial goals of the business.

You will relish the challenges posed by a fast paced and rapidly changing business and enjoy the autonomy you will receive once established in your new role.
